THE GOLDEN WEST.

INTERESTING REVIEW OF THE PEOPLE, TOWNS AND POSSIBILITIES OF THE GREAT WESTERN SEC-TION OF OUR COUNTRY.

The Colored Americans Making Good in the Far West and a Steady Stream of Desirable Immigration Now Pouring Into That Splendid Country With Its Wonderful Possibilities.

-By the Editor. BACK TO LOS ANGELES.

Chapter 6.

One thing that Los Angeles appre ciates very much is the fact that you cannot get to San Diego without go ing to Los Angeles and consequently great expositions and is giving a are the complimentary remarks on the beauty, push and aggressiveness cific Coast and it is little wonder that pass Frisco in population. Well we Wednesday evening and amid the work and toil. wishes for a pleasant journey from the delegation that accompanied us to the Station we started on our journey to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition

THE JEWEL CITY. We arrived in Frisco at 4:00 P. M the next day after passing thru the greatest grape and fruit country we have ever seen. We saw men shovel ing grapes like coal into flat cars all varieties to be made into wine its odium and win for it instead re and grape juice. It looks as if there spect. should be splendid opportunities for the industrious Colored man on farm and fruit ranches in that country and their opportunity. Before reaching Frisco we were all unloaded from the which are large, comfortable boats with every convenience and which six miles wide there in about 20 minutes. On a clear day you get an exoverwhelmed that city several years land where our people conduct many our stay we were the guests at the Hotel Panama conducted by a former Kansas Citylan, Mrs. V. L. North Hueston who made our stay pleasant while there. She also conducts the new Hotel DeLuxe which is headquarters for railroad men running into Frisco and seems to be doing nicely We alternated our stay between the great Fair going on and the Imperial Council being held in Oakland where we met a number of the Masonic dignitaries of the Country. Over in Oakboy who is making good in the person of Glesner Fowler who is success fully practicing law in that city and tle chary about Chinese service. While visiting the Fair we met a number of distinguished gentlemen from other cities and states among whom were Joseph P. Evans of Baltimore, Md., Grand Master of Masons Dr. J. C. Lowe of Mt. Pleasant, Tenn. who bought quite an extensive ranch near Frisco; Isaac W. Young, M. D. the mayor of Boley, Okla.; and Jno. Mitchell, Jr., editor of the Planet of Richmond, Va.

236-242 Townsend street, opposite the

Here we found a very nice Chinese restaurant where we took our meals

FORWARD.

If you strike a rose or thistle, Walk away, an' sing or whistle, Whatsoever Fortune brings you Don't look like The thistle sting you! Only way to win the race-Brave heart and a smilin' face.

KEEP ON.

Fumin' never wins a fight, An' frettin' never pays; There ain't no good a broodin' Over pessimistic ways; Smile jus' kinder cheerfully For the contest won't be long, Jus' keep a smilin' thru yer tears, An' keep on keepin' on.

EX-SLAVE PENSIONS.

the Treasury McAdoo that the suit to recover $68,000,000 from the publi funds for the payment of ex-slaves for labor in the cotton fields of the South is without merit, has had the widest publicity, and has saved confiding hard earned dollars, which they might have wasted on designing noters had tse secretary withheld his note of caution.

A MAN OF IDEAS. By J. A. WILSON (Jeweler).

Whatever else may be said of Mr. Washington this must not be omitted -that he was an intensely practical nan who did not believe in shams or nere appearances. Everywhere he went his eyes were open for pracical ideas and knowledge and all for the purpose of elevating and bettering mankind. He saw in the course of his life that hamlets, villages, towns, cities, states, countries and empire were made possible mainly thru business and commerce, and that the men who controlled these affairs were po tent and to be considered then appeared to him the clear and unmistakable vision-this is what my peo-

The encouraging of Negro busines and enterprise, preaching the doctrine of race patronage and support and the organization and development of the National Negro Business League was that city is constantly crowded with added to his life work. Tuskegee, visitors going to and from the two which is the result of his first vision is conducted on strictly practical busi splendid impression to them and many ness principles. Its influence extends outside its boundaries to surrounding communities where men and women of this the city beautiful of the Pa-desire to learn how to do things bet ter. Its students are taught to use its population increases by leaps and the means at hand, to utilize the pres bounds and in five years it will sur- ent time, to "let down your buckets where you are" and not to sit idle with lingered another day here and loath folded hands dreaming or wishing for to give it up we boarded the train things which can only be obtained by

When a few years ago the Negro press agitated changing the name Ne gro on account of the opprobrium at tached to it and offered in its place certain high sounding names, Mr Washington counseled against the change, claiming that the name had been linked with the history of the race since its advent in this country. that it was the heritage of men of the race who had creditably added to the built especially for that purpose and world's history and that it was betpassed one train of 22 cars made up ter to so conduct and build up ourwholly of freshly gathered grapes of selves that we would rob the name of

There is no man of the race wh has merited such a world wide rec ognition and praise as Booker T. Washquite a few are taking advantage of ington, and no man who has been more abused than he by those of his own race who did not or would not cars onto the ferries at Oakland understand him, but his practical mind caused him to waste no time in replying to his critics but strengthened carried us across the bay which is his resolution to continue doing some thing for the good of mankind. But a few years have gone by since the cellent view of the city which is one day destined to rival New York in and its members have been imbued its foreign and sea going tra..c. To with hope because they see in a clear a person who had never been to Fris. er light the advantage of industry and co there were no evidences of the business to the race, the organiza great earthquake catastrophe that tion aided by Mr. Washington's mag netic personality has encouraged hun ago. But it is one of the most pro- dreds to enter the business work gressive and bustling cities in the where some have gained a foothold whole Country. There are not a it has drawn into its ranks the bes great many Colored people living in men of the race, it has attracted the Frisco but the bulk of those in that attention and won the interest of the section of the State live over in Oak. potent men of other races, it has commandded municipal favor so that cities creditable places of business. During have appropriated hundreds of dollars to welcome black men in the annua gatherings. And then comes that in scrutable mystery Deah, and a good man, a noble man, a loved man, a use ful man, our matchless benefactor and leader is stricken while working.

It is as we like a child were los in the forest and could find no path leading out. Depressed in spirit it heard a voice which said: "Come, I will show you a way," and then a stranger appeared with smiling face and outstretched hands, but his offer land we met a splendid Kansas City was met with childlike suspicion and mistrust, petulant, scolding and wayward abuse. But the stranger still smiled and said "Come," until at last libraries, and he was a public speaker is located in one of the best build- he secured the hand of the child and of unusual persuasiveness. ings in the city; also Ernest Love, led it out and put it in the path for No one will dispute that he secured the oldest brother of the Grand Sechome. And now with confidence a personal recognition never enjoyed retary, who is one of the best known gained and traveling joyously on the chee's of the Northwest. The Stag road, he who has now become our acconducted by Lett and Fisher is one cepted friend stops and says: "Here of the most popular places in the two we must part; I must go another way; cities and here we met quite a few there is your way, follow it."

Our race is the child in economi of the prominent railroad men who run into Frisco and Oakland. Over knowledge, and we fain would sit in Frisco we met an old friend, S. L. awhile and mourn the departure of our friend, but the future is before Nash, attorney-at-law, whom we knew us and the path is dear to our eyes; many years ago in Des Moines, Ia. Sam is still delving in politics and let us continue on our journey and contemporaries traveled more widely, seemed to be very much in demand make such progress that our success will be a fitting memorial to the men in the political campaign which was ory of him whose revered name will regard for the proprietie; of time and then being waged in Frisco. Possibly the most pretentious business place be honored as long as the memory conducted by our people is the Ban-croft Cabaret and Cafe located at > WASHINGTON, THE PRACTICAL. By R. B. DeFRANTZ, Secretary Y. M.

Southern Pacific Coastline station. My first distinct recollection of Mr aitho the Grand Secretary was a lit-Washington by reputation came to me when still a student in school. teacher of psychology used an incident in Mr. Washington's life to illustrate the force of habit. It was an illustration of practical thoroughness. This teacher, known for his narrow views on the race question, enlarged to such an extent upon this illustration that the entire lesson period was thus consumed. This deeply impressed me, while still a boy, with the fact that earnest efforts along practical lines will receive due recognition. From that time to the present I have thought that if as in ancient time, when men of renown were given titles according to their dominant trait, as Just, Good, Innocent, Mr. Washington's should have been "Washington, the Practi-

> Mr. Washington was ever optimis-While other men in positions of eadership deplored the condition of the race, he resolutely set about to Mr. Washington leading in one direct remedy these conditions. He met the tion and W. E. B. DuBois In the problems of his day, the days succeeding slavery, in ways conducive to better conditions. He turned what seem ed to be insurmountable obstacles into victories. When discriminated against he circumvented the difficulties thus arising by changing conditions. He nate means for endeavor. He one time

"The difficulties that the Negro has met since emanicuation have, in my opinion, not always, but on the whole elped him more than they have hindered him."

The principles and the practical methods of the Young Men's Christian Association soon appealed to Mr. Washington. He closely followed its development. His was the first colored school to employ a secretary, who gives his entire time to the prom tion of this work among the students He was the principal speaker at the corner stone laying or dedication of the first four modern buildings. Be cause of previous pressing engage ments and falling health he could no be at the opening exercises of the Kansas City building, the fifth and last to be opened to date. He said on one of these occasions: "The thing about the Y. M. C. A. that impresses me most is that it administers to the needs of the entire man, physically, mentally, socially as well as spiritually. It prepares mer to live a full, useful life. It meets the needs of all classes of men and boys and unites all elements high and low of a community in a practical working force for the comm His struggles, the difficulties over come his ability to turn every circum stance into practical use and finally the place of supreme leadership he at tained will ever be an inspiration for young men and boys.

WASHINGTON A MOSES.

Booker T. Washington, as knew him, was the world's greates educator, a Moses to his race and a martyr to his faith, being closely as sociated with him for the past eigh years in the work of the National Ne gro Business League.

I had an opportunity to study him at close range. He was a firm believer that the hope and salvation of the Negro race was in the commercial and agricultural field, and for the past fifteen years he has been giving freely of his time and money to arouse our people to the realization that we must take hold of these opportunities If we are to become a self-respect ing, self-supporting, independent race of people, I feel that the greatest hon or we can do him is to help in every way possible to carry on the work that has been so nobly started by him.

F. J. WEAVER, President Negro Business League Greater Kansas City.

HE STILL LIVES.

By Mrs. B. M. Weaver. How sad to think of our greatest leader having to leave us so soon. But since our loss is heaven's gain we must bear it in bitter pain. I have been traveling along with the Booker Washington party for the last six years and listening very closely to his good doctrine in the different cities and towns during the national conven tions. Sometimes he was so sick and weak we would shudder for him while he was speaking, but with no com plaints and as humble as a babe h fulfilled his duty and laid down his life for his Lord and people. Tho he i dead his good work lives on.

THANKS.

The Sun sincerely thanks those of our loyal subscribers who responded so generously to our appeal to pay up. They came from both in and out of the city, and if delinquents would do as well we would have no cause to com-* plain

DEATH OF WASHINGTON. Booker T. Washington has fou claims to very high rank among the distinguished men of his times of whatever race. He was a diplomatist of unusua talent, he was a great executive, he was a writer whose books will re main on the shelves of all of th by any other member of his race, and that during the very years in which he was busiest with his plans for the Negro. He was received on terms of social equality by the King of Den mark, everywhere in Europe he was a distinguished visitor. President Roosevelt entertained him at lunch eon, Mr. Carnegie made him financi-ally independent. Very few of his were welcomed more conspicuously or deported themselves with greater

But it is as builder and manage of the institute at Tuskegee that he will be remembered. When we con nder the difficulty our great univer sities are experiencing in finding men to take them in hand after the have been equipped and the student body gathered, we can form some no tion of the varieties of talent involved in building a great school from noth ing, in a hostile neighborhood, out of the most unlikely materials, and in conducting it in such a way as to gain at once the confidence of edu cators and of men of large business experience and to guide it from yea to year into one of the really notable institutions of a country where notable educational institutions are the rule and not the exceptions.

There has always been dispute over the aims of Tuskegee. Mr Washington, without lending voice to those who believe the Negro should not aspire to the highest, still devoted all his energies to laying oundations. In this he frequently disappointed the leaders of his own race. A marked line of division has existed during the last decade, with tion and W. E. B. DuBois in the other. But now that Mr. Washington is dead, the opinion must b unanimous that he did a great and needed work.

Nobody can put a final estimate on the future of the American Negro. Another generation or two must pas considered problems in life as fortu- before he gets his proper rating in the competitions he is subjected to But the life of one Washington the prophecy of a future of distinc-tion. For Washington, without advantage of birth, without education, without financial assistance during the really trying times, easily tool his place with the select few. There were not so many Americans who outranked him in native ability, in training or in achievement. - Des Moines Register.

BOO. LR T. WASHINGTON.

By EDWARD J. PERRY, M. D. The early dawn of the morning of ovember 14 brought the news of the cemingly untimely death of the most noted American Negro educator. The information saddened the hearts of millions of America's Negro citizens who were staunch admirers of the sage's wisdom and firm believers in his doctrine. It reminds us of the incertainty of life, and the surety of death-which ends the career of man-

Booker T. Washington is dead, but is enduring efforts, brilliant career and matchless achievements are so ndelibly fixed in the minds of his ontemporaries that time will not efface them.

Life is not measured in years but rather in the accomplishment of re sults that are most beneficial to mankind. The first indication of great ness is for a man to raise his ambition above selfish aggrandizment and toll for the uplift of his fellowman. Such a spirit demonstrates the magnanimity of a man's mind and the lepths of his character.

History fails to record the achieve nents of any citizen of modern times whose efforts are so pregnant with brilliant results as that of our decased benefactor.

The magnificent institution which ears the name of "Tuskegee Institute" remains as an exemplification of the broadness of his vision and his unflagging confidence in the possibilities of his people

We mourn the loss, yet in our sor rows we thank God, who controls the destiny of man, that He gave to us such an eminent character who has it really lowal? He was no agitator so nobly fought in the race's battles in the time of our flercest conflicts. He has gone, but his life will serve s a monument to which we can always point with pride and which is worthy of the emulation of all American citizens.

MR. WASHINGTON'S RACE LOYALTY.

By G. N. Grisham The test of leadership is loyalty to the class or Nation that the leader represents. Mr. Washington was be fore the people forty years and dur-ing the last twenty years of his life was the most prominent Negro in Tooley and Mrs. Anna J. Carter ap America and the best known Negro in the world. During that period his people were tried more severely than first to speak and explained the object any free element in any Nation since the world began. Disfranchised, "Jim crowed," mobbed, segregated they eemed to have no right which white men cared to respect. When outrages were perpetrated by individuals the State was silent. When the States passed unjust restrictions the Nation virtually endorsed them. In all this period Mr. Washington addressed large auriences of white men both North and South. Did he use these occasions to ask for justice and the righting of wrongs? Would it be fair to test his race loyalty by the answer to this question? He has been charged with trying to establish a new slavery by making ours a race of menials; but he simply sought to make the laborer more e. .cient. He has been accused of cheapening Negro education. He really aimed to do the best he could for the greatest num-ber he could reach. College men charge that he belittled higher educa tion; but he offered employment to more college graduates than any other Negro in the Country. He has been accused of endeavoring to make the people satisfied with humiliations and restrictions. He really tried to lead them to make the best use of their remaining opportunities. Was and was unwilling to jeopardize the good he knew he could do by attempting any doubtful task. No mortal man could have stemmed the tide of opposition that arose against the Negro after the reconstruction period and it will take generations of growth and

RON HONORED AND SUR-

PRISED. A very pleasant and unusual affair occurred at the meeting of Western Queen Court Monday, November 15. Just as the matron, Sister Julia Logan, was about to close the meeting Siste proached the altar and asked permis tion to speak. Sister Tooley was the of the committee. She lauded th work of the matron and told how un tiring she had been in her efforts to further the cause of the court and ho she had gained the love of every mem ber of the court by he rimpartial and fair treatment of every member. ter Carter then on behalf of Western Queen Court, in well chosen words omplimented the court and its matro and presented her a beautiful Heroin Sister Logan being completely taken by surprise could not find words to thank the sisters but her tears spoke more eloquently. After the pre sentation there were rfreshmnts served. Short talks were made complimenting the matron upon her work by Sister Crews, Brother Tooley, Sis. ber 21. ter Brown and the worthy Joshua Jas. J. Crews.

VIOLA CHAPMAN, Chairm LILLIAN TOOLEY, JAS, H. CREWS.

BOOKER WASHINGTON'S LIFE HIS OWN EPITAPH.

By J. DALLAS BOWSER In his genius for organization, his unparalled achievement in the founding of a great university, in the international fame he secured as an orator and educator in the plaudits of an appreciative people, and now in the well nigh national sorrow his untimely death has created, Prof. Booker T. Washington has written his own epitaph. His life, his work, his victories over obstacles but exemplify a great human law that no man who continues to add something to the material, intellectual and moral well being if the place in which he lives is long left without a proper reward; that there is no human agency that can stop the growth of the world in the direction of giving mankind more intelligence, more culture, more skill, more liberty and more brotherly love and justice.

A PROPHET GONE

By PROF. T. W. H. WILLIAMS. Dr. Booker T. Washington is no more. No, he still lives. His ideals are as a rich legacy to the race for their inheritance. How profound and prophetic was his interpretation of the race problem. Had he left only the following lines, history would have recorded him famous: "The whole future of the Negro race rests largely upon the question as to whether or not he should make himwhether or not he should make that self, through his skill, intelligence and of the lessons was "Denominational character of such undentable value to Union." character of such undeniable value to the community in which he lives that the community could not dispense with his presence. That any individual who learned to do something better than anybody else, learned to do a commo thing in an uncommon manner had solved his problem regardless of the color of his skin and that in proportion as the Negro learned to produce what other people wanted and must have in the same proportion would be be respected."

Deepest study upon these views made me an advocate student and writer upon the Dr. Booker T. Washington ideas.

N. A. A. C. P. AND BOOKER WASH-INGTON.

The Kansas City branch of the National Association for the Advance-ment of Colored People joins in the nation wide movement of paying our respects to the memory of the greatest American Negro citizen. Dr. Booker T. Washington has accou plished more good for the greatest number of his race than any other in dividual since the Emancipation. He occupied a most unique position in the affairs of this country; just as the great Panama Canal connects the two mighty oceans, this man's life work was an effort to bring a better feeling between the two races and at the same time working heroically to uplift his own. The greatness of the man since his death will be magnified when his achievements, which he was too modest to mention, are related to us. May his great work go

Yours with fullest condolence and sympathy,

H. M. SMITH, M. D., President.

WASHINGTON THE BENEFACTOR By S. W. BACOTE, D. D. No one can estimate the service Booker T. Washington rendered the race, the nation and the world. In the language of another, incidents of birth, parentage, schooling early struggles, may be detailed with accuracy but his life was so incorporated, trans fused into millions of others broaden ing views, exalting ideals, molding character that no pen can describe All things considered, no man in ancient or modern history was a great er benefactor to the world.

TIRELESS AND UNSELFISH. By WM. J. THOMPKINS, M. D.

No circumstances could have b ter illustrated the unselfishness of Dr Washington than did the trip from any other race, but I also maintain Muskogee, Ok., to Boley, Ok., during the meeting of the Business Men's League in August, 1914, and as a phy sician having been asked to attend him for the day, none could observe it better than I. After a sleepless night of illness he was on hand at field and in other fields of racial en- 6:30 a .m. ready for his part in the day's program, and no more arduous part could have been taken. Dusty, not, tired and ill, much against the Perhaps no one felt more keenly the protestations of family and friends. ne would rouse himself for each of the half dozen speeches he had been scheduled to make on the trin only to fall back after each, thoroughly spent here at the Second Baptist Church with his efforts. He seemed only to think of the disappointment that would come to those people who had for the messenger service. Mr. Settles is of most part come from miles in the the Settles-Thompson Shoe Polish country to hear him should he deny Manufacturing Co., at Omaha, Neb.

WESTERN QUEEN COURT'S MAT- himself to them. Even more impre ive, however, was his interest in his little grandchildren under the same trying circumstances as they played around his knee and his demonstrative affection for them. I could only think how truly did he live for others.

ALLEN CHAPEL NOTES.

Sunday morning November 14, was Allen chapel's auspicious yet peculiar Just as the congregation began assembling and were extending the usual Sabbath morning greetings, and wishing the women of the church sucess in their financial effort, Prof. R. T. Coles announced the sudden and unexpected death of Dr. Booker T. Washington and filled each heart with sadness

Dr. William T. Thomas then appointed the following committee draft resodutions to be read at the funeral of Dr. Washington: Prof. R. T. Coles, Hon. Nelson C. Crews, Dr. T. C. Unthank, Dr. J. E. Dibble and C. H. Halloway. This committee arranged for memorial exercises to be held in honor of Dr. Washington in Allen chapel Sunday evening, Novem-

Dr. Thomas began preaching at 11:30. His text was "Thou mayest add thereto," found in the fourteenth verse of the twenty-second chapter of First Chronicles. His subject was: 'Contributions of One Generation to Another." Just to say that Dr. Thomas preached is amply sufficient; to attempt to say how well he preached would do him an injustice, for his reputation as a pleasing, lucid, convicing and forceful preacher is as wide as is the country itself.

At 12:30 Lawyer W. C. Hueston, in his masterly and eloquent way, made the final appeal for the ladies of the church, and the women captains came forward and took their places at the six tables and the women's rally was on. The members and friends of the church responded nobly.

At 1 o'clock the funeral of Brother Lewis Woods, under the auspices of the K. P. and U. B. F. lodges were conducted. Dr. Thomas preached the funeral. At 3 o'clock the women gave he following program:

Music-Ladies' band. Selection-Choir. Invocation-Mrs. Jennie Hunter. Solo-Miss Pauline Vaughn. Address-Miss Victoria Overall. Solo-Mrs. Susie Andrews. Paper-Mrs. Emma Vaughn. Selection-Ladies' band. Address-Mrs. Mary Woods. Selection-Ladies' band. Address-Madame Beck. Address-Miss Anna H. Jones. The program was high class through-

At 6 o'clock the three Endeavor societies met in their appointed rooms. The seniors were led by Prof. A. M. Wilson. The intermediates were led by Miss Ida Williams, and the juniors by Mrs. Sadie E. Talton. The subject

In the evening the minister preached from the following text: prayed without ceasing unto God for Him," found in the fifth verse of the twelfth chapter of the Acts. His subect was "How to Pray So as to Get What You Ask For.'

Following is a partial report of the roman's rally: Captain Crews ...... $ 65.42 29.55 Captain Gilmore . . . . . . . . . . . . 139.36 18.35 32.70 31.10 6.90

CANADA NOTES.

By B. C. ALLEN, Journalist. Dear Sir:-I am sending you a little report of our Journalist, which I tope you will find space to print. We have organized in our company a literary society, and this is a report of the current events. The object is to deepen the interest in things tending to elevate the race and dignify their person, artistic and company work; also to encourage personal dignity and so forth. The young people interest themselves in helpful literature and topics of vital interest to us as a race and are fully and very intelligently discussed. We will send from time to time items concerning the progress of our little society. Very cordially yours,

W. C. BUCKNER, Prop. of the Dixle Jubilee Co.

In the busy and enterprising city of Saskatoon, Sunday, October 23, this happy little organization was named or christened the D. I. L. S. The place of our meeting was in the delightful parlors of the homelike Hotel Barry. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson proprietors.

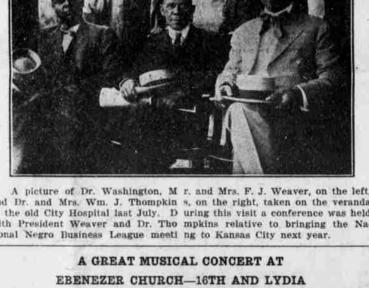

War Notes-Canada is warmly thanked by the King for her great assistance rendered in the war. Her contribution so far has been 90,000 men, and their plans are to send 100. 000 more soldiers, which gratifies the imperial government.

It is noted from the daily papers that Wm. J. Bryan will go to Europe on a mission to establish peace. He will leave early in December and will be in conference with Pope Benedice during the holidays.

It is suggested that the warring countries adopt the plan of France and Belgium. That is to teach disabled soldiers a trade of some kind, so as to have a means of earning a livelihood.

The report comes from trustworthy but unofficial sources that Germany will conclude peace on the basis of granting cession to Germany, Belgium and the payment of an indemnity of $7,500,000,000. Let us hope that intended peace will soon be a reality.

Mr. Ernest K. Settles is in the city looking for a location to open a shoe polish manufacturing company and

NOTICE!

Only a few more of those

Clean, Electric-lighted Steam Heated Rooms May be Had

at the Paseo Y. M. C. A.

and Dr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Thompkin s, on the right, taken on the veranda of the old City Hospital last July. D uring this visit a conference was held with President Weaver and Dr. Tho mpkins relative to bringing the National Negro Business League meeti ng to Kansas City next year.

By Ebenezer's Splendid Choir Thanksgiving Night

PROGRAM

Recitation—Selected.....Mrs. Edwards, Shoes, Messrs. Dimery and Jackson Quartet-"Sweet and Low" Parks ... Quintet-"Good News" Work, Mesdames Dimery, Mott, Douglass and Messrs, Knox and Jackson Soprano Solo-"The Day is Slowly Sinking to a Close" Woodman. ......Mrs. Mabel Dimer Saxaphone Selection ..... ......Dr. J. E. Diddle Trio—"Praise Ye" Verdi....Miss Maud Williams, Messrs. Dimery and Jackson

> Chitterling Lunch will be served after program ADMISSION 10 CENTS

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON MEMORIAL SERVICE AT ALLEN CHAPEL

Sunday night, November 21, 1915. Invocation-Rev. W. H. Thomas. ong-"Abide With Me." Choir. Memorial-Read by Prof. R. T. Coles Chorus-"My Lord, What a Morning, Booker T. Washington as a Moses-Attorney C. H. Calloway.

Chorus-"By and By." melody, a favorite of Dr. Washing Booker T. Washington as an Educato

-Prof. H. T. Kealing. Booker T. Washington's Memoria Dirge, composed by Major N. Clark Smith-Violin, Cello and Organ. Booker T. Washington at Home-Prof J. H. E. Lee.

ooker T. Washington as a Citizen Chaplain Geo. W. Prioleau, of the Ninth Cavalry. Booker T. Washington the Man-At torney W. C. Hueston,

Hymn-By congregation. Dr. J. E. Dibble, Master of Ceremot

IF YOU THINK THE SUN IS FIGHTING THE BATTLES OF THE RACE, SUBSCRIBE AND HELP IT FIGHT.

development for the Negro to attain any civil standing or political equality worth the name. He knew this full well. He was loyal and he served his generation as-no other man has done Re-read his Atlanta Exposition speech, then turn to his address be fore 5,000 educators at St. Louis in 1904 and you will see him rise to the full measure of a loyal race leader "I only ask an equal chance in th world for the Negro." "I claim for the Negro all the rights enjoyed by we must have a foundation on which to rest our claims." Washington wrought well in his own chosen way and we honor him for it. There is oom for other leaders of a far differ ent type to achieve honor in the same deavor. May they be as effective as of Booker T. Washington than did Mrs. Mattie Thompson, who pre-sented him an elegant bouquet on the ccasion of his last public address and for which she received a very beautiful letter of thanks after his return home, which letter she now holds as a priceless memento.

unselfish, as loyal as Booker Wash-